TUESDAY PLEIN AIR

STREET ART ON THE MARCH

NEW Queanbeyan Palerang Regional Council Culture Officer Benita Tunks was the Guest Speaker at the opening of the QAS Abstract, Abstraction and Sculpture Exhibition .

The former Australian National Museum officer enlightened the crowd with her knowledge of Street Art.

Benita has watched the humble mural on a back alley wall develop into a much more appreciated piece of art.

'There are so many different ways to draw, stencil, spray or brush in getting these huge pieces of art on the streets', she said. "I am delighted to have taken on the new challenge because the Queanbeyan Palerang Region has developed into a wonderful hub for culture." Never having visited the QAS Gallery before she did not realise the tremendous output by this community group every month.

BECOME A GALLEY PAINTER

MEMBERS should consider becoming a QAS Gallery Painter as it has several advantages.

The Society over many years has had the benefit of having loyal Gallery Painters who occupy the Gallery every day of the week. They have been the source of funding for many of the 'Gallery Wheels' turning with their regular usage. The QAS Committee has seen fit to reward these members in some small way by offering a monthly $50 Gallery Painter plan. To add to the new monthly award artists can paint at the Gallery (new Working Gallery) any day you wish for only $3 per day and entries to the monthly members exhibitions are only $5 per painting.

Remember it is your Gallery!

BARILARO REVITALISES RIVERSIDE GALLERY

Queanbeyan Art Society's riverside building is set for further expansion thanks to the NSW Government, Member for Monaro John Barilaro announced today.

Mr Barilaro visited the Art Society's gallery to join members and talented artists and announce $71,250 in funding for a major renovation to the treasured art space.

"Our local artists capture Queanbeyan in a way that few others can," Mr Barilaro said.

"Providing local artists with a space where they can focus on their work is a great achievement."

Mr Barilaro said the funding will be used to enclose the existing pergola and re-floor the area to transform it into a new gallery room, enlarge the boundary fence and create a better public entrance, construct a disabled access ramp into the gallery and build a new pergola.

"The arts community is growing, with over 350 members in the Queanbeyan Art Society who are all enthusiastic about supporting local artists, particularly up and comers," Mr Barilaro said.

"This project will see a major boost to the Gallery and will cement it as a focal point of our city and tourist attraction as well as a place for local artists to enjoy."

Mr Barilaro said the NSW Government has previously supported the Queanbeyan Art Society with $105,000 in funding to construct their art workroom extension.

"The Art Society has been hard at work managing the extension and they now have a beautiful facility for all to use," he said.

"Soon, they will have even more space thanks to this further $71,250, bringing the NSW Government's support of the society's building works to $176,250."

Queanbeyan Art Society President Barry Cranston said the Society is thrilled by today's announcement.

"On behalf of the Queanbeyan Art Society, thank you very much to John Barilaro and the NSW Government for this funding," Mr Cranston said.

"Our Gallery is a terrific space for local artists to develop their skills and showcase their art, however the growing interest in local art means the need for more room."

"We cannot wait to see work start on our new gallery space."

A big thanks to Georgina Perri who the Society had a good relationship with over many years. Thanks to: Roland Aronsen, Trevor Rowe, Halina Kobialka, Jim Sullivan, Gary Caldow, Amanda Gear, Anne Balcomb, Maureen Bartle and Jenny Sheppard.

THE RUSTY MOLE

WHEN I was about to turn four. My parents were extremely poor.

They lived in a tent but were always hell-bent. To own their own home, a place of their own.

The money was tight, even the rent was a fight. So on my birthday when I awoke in my cot.

There lay beside me on that wonderful day. The most beautiful dolly that I just had to call Molly. All dressed in white, it was love at first sight.

White ribbons in her hair, I had never seen one so fair. She became my best friend, all my toys I would lend. We would talk for hours imagining our powers. We went everywhere together in all sorts of weather. Till one day one day she went missing in the rain.

My heart was breaking at never seeing her again. My parents had warned us about the dog called Gus. His parents were also very poor and lived next door to us.

Now Gus had a liking for Molly, drooling as he watched us playing. Running up and down, the old fence swaying.

So on that dreadful day as the storm vent and I ran fast to our tent. Gus took the advantage and broke the old fence. I was too far away to go to Molly's defence. He grabbed Molly where she lay and decided to have a play.

Through the mud he dragged her, her dress was now brown. I thought she would drown. Her ribbons were torn; there were sticks in her hair. She now looked anything but fair.

On seeing my pain my father ran out in the rain. But Gus shook his head; I really thought Molly was dead.

For he was only a dog and had decided to run around in the bog. The more Gus ran, the more I cried, so the more dad tried.

My dad did his best but it was a bit of a test. To get Gus to give up Molly became such a folly.

But after some time the weather turned fine. So Gus sat down in the mud with a thud.

In a moment of truth Dad became a sleuth. He managed to snatch Molly away and save the day.

Mum did her best to clean up her dress, but the rest of her was a mess. She had been my best friend, the most beautiful doll. But now she just looked like a rusty old mole.

To own their own home, a place of their own.
