ART MAKER A GIFT OF LOVE

WHEN it comes to 'employing' Mick Caves to do a handyman's job around the QAS Gallery what a great job he did.

Members will notice the walls of the Working Gallery have removable mess to hang paintings. Mick was quick on the job with screws and plugs and a lazar that put a straight line the length of the gallery. When asked how much he said, "Nothing mate here is a few quid as a donation to help the Art Society". When offered to pick a painting for payment he insisted on making the donation. He took a shine to Irene McHuge's horse painting but would not take back the donation.

Thanks Mick!

QPRC ART TRAIL A HUGE SUCCESS

THE Arts Trail initiative has been very successful – full marks to QPRC they gave the idea plenty of Air!

We had 60 visitors through the gallery on day one and 80 on the Sunday, so it was worthwhile being there.

Also one of Mark Redzic's paintings sold and three Young Artist paintings were sold! Our Gallery Sitters did a marvelous job welcoming visitors and hand out our Newsletters, Members forms and selling paintings.

A very well attended day by Arts Trail visitors – the QPRC paper flower making activity on the banks of the river attracted a lot of visitors to the gallery.

John Bosler is one of our 'Gallery Sitters' who has framed seven of his works to enter in another Exhibition.

Many thanks to Valerie Scott for coming in unexpectedly early to gallery sit and to Anna Thurecht for establishing the dog-friendly station complete with artistic sign!

Thanks to the QORC gardening staff who planted this lovely bush in the garden plot in front of the Gallery.

THE BRIDGE RAPPED

THE bridge 'Face Lift' is getting under way and will start from the town side.

The last section of the bridge to be cleaned and painted will be over the road into the Gallery area.

PRESIDENT'S PALETTE

THE Greinke/Ballis Art Completion/Exhibition is outstanding and possible

one of the best we have had and a huge thanks to Jill and Julie for their sponsorship and judging over many years. Both are Life Members and still make a big contribution to the Society!

The front page story about Mick Caves putting the mess for hanging paintings in the Society Working Gallery rings of a wonderful guesser. Not only did he do the job for nothing he donated a fist full to the Society and said "you people do a great job for the community I want to help". Many thanks Mike.

QAS ART ON FENCE EXHIBITION

AFTER the huge success of the Art On The Fence Exhibition members are asked to support the next Exhibition.

It is Entry Free under the same conditions as a normal Exhibition and many members made their works affordable art. We all have many extra paintings in our studios just taking up space and possible no likely hood of selling so dust off the webs and who knows who might take of fancy to one of your paintings.

We had a little bit of weather around last time so most went under the pergola and the sales went really well.

The member's cards sold well.

GALLERY PAINTING

Prolific and talented artist Isla Patterson, long time member of QAS, has generously donated one of her watercolours.

It's of O'Neill Cottage, the Queanbeyan Art Society building and studio. Now hanging in the front entry, and still to have a new art label for it. It's a kind gift from a warm QAS member and friend.

Thanks Isla for your gift to us all.

MORE HANGING SPACE AT QAS GALLERY

THE QAS Gallery hanging space will be increased by 12.5m when the mess is completed in the Working Gallery.

The new idea is these mess sheets are held up by hooks and they can be taken down or moved to other venues if required.

With the success of the Free Members Fence Exhibition the mess hanging idea can be used to move art in bulk from the gallery to the fence in bulk. For far too long any over flow of paintings left in the gallery we have had to 'hang' them on the floor. Now at least these paintings will be on show and could be possibly viewed and sold.

The mess before the paint.

The mess painting

The mess painted and hung.

There is more to 'painting' than making a pretty picture. QAS members Gay Mouat, Annette Rennie and Irena Zarebski took to painting the new mess that will hang in the Working Gallery. The three are talented artists but they may have missed their calling and the factory like assembly line saw this project hit the wall in no time! Like all 'good trades women' with a cup of paint left over they gave the gallery plinths and small table a lick of paint. Well done ladies!

MEMBERS ART CARD SALES

Hi everyone interested in selling cards at the QAS gallery.

If anyone has any Xmas cards ready to be sold, please leave them for me in the cardboard box with my name on it that is in the workroom or give them to me at the exhibition opening on Sunday. If you have sold some cards you can also leave some replacement cards there too (please do not put replacement cards on the card stand). You can put 1 or 2 Xmas cards for $5.50 or do a pack with more priced at $11 if you wish (remember to factor in the .50c or $1 to the gallery). Please put your name on any cards you leave for me especially if you haven't yet given me any.

I have just done the first stock check and 33 cards have definitely been sold. One card is missing and not marked as sold, so I will double check for it next time in case I missed it or in case someone removed it. Hopefully it wasn't stolen. Possibly it was sold and not marked off on the list.

Below is a breakdown of the card sales to 5 October 2022. If you are one of the people whose cards have sold, could you please email our Treasurer, Oliver Cheng at oliverchengqas@gmail.com and give him your bank BSB and Account number and Account Name so that he can do a bank transfer to your account as soon as he has had time to check the takings. Hopefully as the weather warms and when the cafe re-opens we will sell even more.

I probably won't check the cards at the end of October as I will be away, so I may leave it until the end of November unless a lot of cards have sold by the time I return, in which case I will do it immediately. Congrats to those who sold this time and here's hoping everyone will have sold some by the next stock check. Here's the breakdown and a more detailed one showing what the cards were that sold (in case you are curious or wish to replace them) is in the Excel file attached. Congrats to those who sold.
