Future Electrical Technologies (FTE) comes to Queanbeyan Art Society

BRAVO to Mark Holden of FTE and his electrical team who worked long and hard at the Society for 5 days in July 2023 to refurbish the electicals at the society. This is our first big electrical upgrade since the 1980's. Thanks to NSW Government for the Capital Works Grant (finalised in 2022) with which we've upgraded our gallery to art lighting with spectacular down lights, increased power points- especially in our busy kitchen, installed emergency lighting and absolutely reorganised the wiring in the gallery. No more extension cords along the ceiling for the TV! Queanbeyan Palerang Regional Council maintenance officers have been great, working in partnership with the Society to deliver the upgrade works. Life Drawing and Sculpture Classes are delighted to have dimmable lighting for their sessions and we are all grateful to Mark and team for the terrific electrical make over at the gallery.

MEMBERS ENTER Q LIVING

Hi Members,

We have been asked by QLiving if our members have any art work that they would like to be incorporated into the

QLiving Magazine.

They said: "We would absolutely love to incorporate some colourful artwork of the Queanbeyan and surrounding areas throughout our editorial as part of our Spring/Summer Edition of Q Living.

As part of this, we would credit the paintings with the artist's name and references to The Art Society."

Here is a link to the website. <https://qlivingmagazine.com.au/>

If you have any suitable art work, including some that references Queanbeyan history please provide a digital image to me by 11th August 2023.

MORE VISITS TO GALLERY

Lucky member Jenny Sheppard was on hand when three Canberra University students visited the Gallery and she gave them a special demo!

ABC RADIO FOR QAS

THE QAS was featured on Canberra ABC Radio recently and the afternoon show allowed both Ian and Barry to 'sing' paint a sparkling picture of the Society. As a wonderful friendly art society that has a membership now going over 300 it can claim to be a Art Society that hangs on average 120 works every month of the year! A day after the interview a lady who heard the interview came to the Gallery to become a members.

PRESIDENT'S PALETTE

THE new Gallery lighting is outstanding and it puts a good feeling in the Gallery with full control with each switch. Our life drawing class is getting full advantage of the shadows.

I was pleased to give QAS some airing on the ABC and 2CC radio this month. We have many hard working members behind the scenes and forgive me if I miss naming you but our Workshop Coordinator Andrew Smith has had a wonderful year with excellent tutors and full Workshops, which has been very profitable for the Society.

The Annual Queanbeyan Leagues Club Art Competition/Exhibition mustered 175 works making it one of the largest ever. The number of paintings are up and the quality is excellent.

If any member knows a presentational sponsor for other Exhibitions please contact our secretary Kay Lenehan.

The 2024 QAS Calendar is coming together and members are asked to forward their painting for the Calendar. It is free!

Yours in Art,
Barry Cranston
President

Stephie Clark - Soft Pastel Creating Floral Treasures

The Queanbeyan Art Society (QAS) recently held its 8th workshop of the year, featuring the talented pastel artist Stephie Clark, along with her husband and assistant, Gavin. The workshop was an enchanting exploration of creating floral treasures with the versatile medium of soft pastels.

Stephie Clark, a renowned pastel artist known for her exquisite floral compositions, brought her expertise and passion to the workshop. With Gavin's support, they guided participants through the magical world of pastel painting, unveiling the secrets to capturing the beauty of flowers on paper.

One of the key lessons learned during Stephie Clark's workshop was the idea that "there are no rules, just stay in your lanes." Participants were encouraged to embrace their individual artistic styles and trust their instincts while staying true to their creative vision. Stephie emphasized the importance of finding one's own artistic lane and using it as a means of self-expression.

Throughout the workshop, participants explored various techniques and approaches to create vibrant and expressive floral artwork. Stephie and Gavin generously shared their tips and insights, encouraging artists to experiment with colour blending, composition, and capturing the essence of flowers in pastel form.

The workshop was a delightful and rewarding experience for all involved. Participants left with newfound confidence in their pastel painting abilities and a deeper appreciation for the beauty of floral art.

The Queanbeyan Art Society remains dedicated to providing enriching artistic experiences for the community. Workshops like Stephie Clark's are a testament to the Society's commitment to nurturing creativity and fostering a supportive environment for artists to learn and grow.

QAS CRAFT MARKET

Hi All, If you would like to book a stall to sell your craft items at our next market on Sunday 1 October 2023, please contact Belinda Ingram on 0404 166 934. Also, if you make miniature art/sculptures or jewellery or other craft items and would be interested in having them sold in the Gallery (inside the glass cabinets in the front room), could you please contact me with your name and what type of items you would like to sell. Hopefully once the books are relocated to the back room book shelves there should be enough room for a reasonable number of items in the cupboards. You will have to factor in Gallery commissions into your prices, but I will advise interested people of further details later - for now I just want to get an idea of how many people will be interested in putting items in the cupboard and what sort of items you have. You can email me at heather@hollogram.net. I have no transport at present but as soon as my chariot is going again I will try and get over to remove the books and clean the cabinets ready for us to use.

We are always looking for door prize raffle items too, if anyone has anything they would care to donate - just bring them to the gallery at the next meeting and give them to Belinda or myself (or any other committee member).

Memberships are also due now, so a renewal form is attached and you can also access one from our website.

You need to be a member to exhibit work in most of our exhibitions or to sell cards or future craft items.

If you have already renewed, please disregard this reminder.

Please contact me if you have any queries about your membership. Have a creative day.

GY ELECTRADE

Hi All, For members and new members who may not be aware of it, we will shortly be selling not just cards in the gallery, but also craft and small art items. Once the renovations are complete I will clean the glass cabinets in the front room (again) and we will place those items in them. I have display stands for jewellery items, especially earrings, and also about a dozen very small stands for tiny (10cm x 10cm) miniature artworks and Cheryl Mudford has kindly lent us some additional display stands. I also have a couple of display heads (one glass and one foam) we can use if anyone is into millinery. I would also like to have a hat stand at the end of the cupboard upon which we could hang some hand made silk scarves or bags etc. The plan is to have shelves featuring handmade jewellery, small art and sculptural works, some textiles and any other arty or crafty items we can place in there. At present I think we could do with one more shelf in the cupboard, so if anyone would like to tackle the task of making one, please contact me (heather@hollogram.net).

Barry would like to have another 2 card stands in the gallery to place in the end gallery. So far I have been unsuccessful in finding any 2nd hand ones at the Green sheds in Canberra and at Bungendore, so if anyone has one they would like to part with or lend, or if you see one anywhere please let me (or Barry) know asap. If you would like to place any art or craft items in the cabinet, please bring them to the gallery asap and place them into the plastic tub on the trolley in the workroom, which I hope hasn't been moved during the renovations (please do not put them in the cabinets).

The gallery commission is only going to be 10%, so factor that into your pricing. Make sure each item placed into the tub has your name on it and the price you wish to sell them for including the commission. Feel free to leave any business cards that can be placed into the cabinet. I will set the cabinet up once I have catalogued the items and the same rules as with the cards will apply - that being that nothing goes into or out of the cabinets without reference to me (lest it mess up the accounting system or make us think it has been stolen). You will need to be a full member or a Friend member to have items placed in the cabinet. The cabinets do not have locks at this stage, so there is a small element of risk. I will place signs in the cabinets requesting visitors go to the gallery sitter for assistance. Once the cabinet is set up I will take photographs of items and post them to the Queanbeyan Art Cards page (and any other pages I can think of) and will hope that members will share to their own social media as well. The library books that were in the cabinets are now in the workroom along with the other library books.

If you have any questions, please contact me.

Cheers Heather Holland QAS Membership Secretary

MERCIA Kaczmarowski was an active member of the Queanbeyan Art Society in its early inception days. The Society's Honours board displays her Life Membership commitment both as Secretary 1973-1981 and President 1983-1989.

Mercia gave generously of her time to organise Art Exhibitions, lobbied corporate companies and local businesses to donate funds for prize monies. Mercia was a woman ahead of her time with a strong work ethic and subsequently chosen as the first female Executive Assistant to a Chief of Naval Staff Vice Admiral Sir Alan McNicol. This role was in Naval Intelligence and JIO Russian intelligence.

In 1977 Mercia was awarded the Queen Elizabeth silver Jubilee medal representing the Royal Australian Navy. During her time in the WRANS she was awarded two good conduct medals and was only the second WRAN to receive a Long Service medal. Awarded The Defence Force Medal in 1989.

The highlights of serving in the WRANS was working with Sir Alan McNicol and when chosen to represent the Navy at the Olympic Games held in Melbourne. Mercia retired from the Royal Australian Navy after 22 years' service as Chief Petty Officer.

Looking for new horizons Mercia chose to open "Books and Prints" in Crawford Street Queanbeyan once owned by the town's first book shop proprietor Mrs Fitzhardinge wife of Canberra author and Academic Laurie Fitzhardinge.

When the Lord Mayor of Queanbeyan Mr Fred Land retired it was through Mercia's efforts the Queanbeyan Art Society commissioned Christopher O'Rourke to produce a painting of old Queanbeyan to present to Mayor Land at his testimonial dinner.

Mercia gave of her time to organise programmes for art exhibitions, newspaper articles and was in constant touch with the Queanbeyan City Council to gain support for the Art Society's endeavours.

After some years Mercia's sights were set on redeveloping a derelict Mill House in Collett Street. She approached the owner Mr Bill Coleman who also owned J. B. Young's department store in Monaro Street. She offered to restore the building at no cost to him on the proviso of receiving a reduced lease during the initial stage of a business venture. This reconstruction work was undertaken by her brother-in-law Christopher O'Rourke an architectural draftsman and artist who had a passion for restoring and preserving Queanbeyan's heritage. Together they completed the restoration.

In 1984 a grand opening was held in the front of the building and a rural atmosphere prevailed when the speaker was interrupted by a baaing of sheep within an old truck driven by local Dr David Madew.

The new business now also held Antiquarian books and prints as well as stocking old and new books. Yet Mercia the proud proprietor also catered for the women in the town who found the Mills and Boons books a great hit to escape housewives' blues. The business also ran a tearoom as well as an Antiques and Collectibles section.

The book business thrived for many years and held great interest to book lovers who came from near and far. During this time Mercia supported local historians Rex Cross, Bert Sheedy and Errol Lea Scarlett and gave valuable assistance for Cross and Sheedy's book, "Queanbeyan Pioneers First Study." Altruistic in nature Mercia funded this publication under her business name of "Books and Prints." Too committed to promoting the book for its authors while sending out flyers, advertising and organising the book launch she failed to sign many of the books. There are only a few remaining copies signed Mercia Kaczmarowski Publisher. Prof Laurie Fitzhardinge was a constant visitor to the Mill House business providing advice on the best old and rare books Mercia should buy at auctions sales.

During this busy time Mercia and her brother-in-law Christopher O'Rourke designed brochures and small information books. Christopher's sketches on Queanbeyan's historic buildings highlighted the town's heritage sites in, "Historic City of Queanbeyan." Another booklet "Queanbeyan Heritage Walks," followed focusing on the town's history. Mercia also organised her brother-in-law Christopher O'Rourke to design the Queanbeyan Art Society logo.

Due to family illness, it was time to reconsider the lease on the Mill House and Mercia sold her share to a business partner. Relentless in her pursuits to continue and share her wide range of interests Mercia started an old and new jewellery business at the Mill House and Abbeys Antiques.

Vale Mercia Kaczmarowski who was a well-respected businesswoman and woman of substance.
